

MEDIA ALERT: STEVE NASH FITNESS WORLD HAS BEEN ACQUIRED

Vancouver, B.C. (June 16, 2020): It was announced today that a group of investors has acquired the rights to Steve Nash Fitness World & Sports Clubs. Chris Smith will remain as CEO.

"I am excited to be chosen by the new ownership team to carry on the fitness legacy of these clubs," said Mr. Smith. "We look forward to creating a great experience for our members, engaging through our team members and building a comfortable and safe space for our fitness communities. We have plans to rebrand the clubs and create incredible value for the communities that we serve."

"The new ownership team understands there are many questions that remain unanswered and we look forward to welcoming people back into the clubs as quickly and safely as possible as we work through Covid-19 reopening protocols. There will be health and safety procedures in place when we reopen that are all in line with B.C. safety standards, as keeping everyone safe and healthy will be a foremost priority" said Mr. Smith.

The reopening strategy and information regarding the timing of the openings will be communicated in the coming weeks on each location with the aim to get everyone back in the clubs as soon as possible to continue their fitness journey.

The new ownership team has already made a commitment to honour all service agreements, whether they were pre-paid memberships or personal training services, as they understand that was a big question for many. Monthly dues will also be honoured and remain the same as the clubs re-open. All parties are moving as quickly as possible to get these clubs operating for everyone to enjoy, get fit, stay healthy and meet goals — whatever they might be.

At any time, members are encouraged to send questions to service@memberservice.ca and will receive an answer as quickly as possible.
